Tiffany Hicks

SHORT BIO

Tiffany Hicks is a high-energy facilitation specialist, training consultant, and learning and development expert with over 17 years of experience in management, training, and content development. She has worked with Fortune 500 brands to deliver coaching, consulting, learning, and development programs for People Fund, SCORE, Capital One Bank, Samsung, Verizon Wireless, and several other organizations to help small business ecosystems to improve their bottom lines and employees' efficiency. Tiffany has a Masters in the Science of Management and a secondary Masters in Community Development from Prairie View A&M University. Tiffany uses her Community Development degree to help organizations improve their community impact and sustainability via developing effective content, training, and personal/professional development programs. She donates monetarily and volunteers her time to multiple non-profit organizations in Houston and surrounding areas.
